Actor Protects that he May a Clai Miss Kate Claxton and about fifty men thered in Madison Square Theatre yester-y afternoon to attend the sale of fourteen of on Boucleault's plays. A tall, smoothly aven man, with a portentous look on his os, est in the front row, J. H. Draper was the metioneer. He announced that the terms of ale would be 25 per cent. down, 25 per cent. in months, the same in nine months, and the patiated on the merits of the various plays, and said that he would call for bids on "The Shanghraun" first. The portentous look on the tall man's face was deepening all this time, and before anybody could get in a bid it be-

Excuse me, Mr. Draper, but I must protest against the sale of any of these plays. I have a lien upon seven and twenty plays of Mr. ong the number. There is a suit pending them in the Supreme Court, and whoever

"Oh, yes, I'll excuse you." returned Mr.

Reuse me," interrupted the litigant, and be several minutes he and Mr. Draper talked the same time. When the confusion was being up it was developed that the tall man was learned up it was developed that the tall man was learned up it was developed that the tall man was learned to be seen that Mr. Boucleault's learned the spectators that Mr. Boucleault's learned until incontrovertible evidence could be produced that neither Walton nor any other man had any claim upon the works.

Walton laughed as he went out and seemed to micy hugely the sensation he had made. Be told the reporters that two or three years come had sated as Boucleault's agent in placing his plays in the cheap theatres. A toyality of $60 a week for every play while in was to be paid, and this sum was to be divided between author and agent. The strangement was not reduced to writing, but have were winesses and letters that showed that a contract existed. Three of the twenty-even plays selected for this venture were actually performed in various theatres, and the business ceased only when Mr. Boucleault bout two years age enjoined Walton from promaing them any more.

In ever sought to raise the injunction," said walton, "but can do so now, My claim is that Boucleault has not fulfilled his agreement with me."

Mr. Boucleault has not fulfilled his agreement with me."

"This tallow," he said, "hasn't the shadow."

Mr. Boucicault was found in an office of the theatre.

"This fellow," he said, "hasn't the shadow of a claim. I enjoined him, and the injunction was made permanent. His action this after-hoon is contempt of court, and I shall see that he is brought to bar for it."

Ex-Judge Dittenheefer, Mr. Boucicault's counsel, corroborated his client's view of the matter, and said that walton had no right to injurier with the plays in any way.

After the sudden postponement of the auction Mr. Boucicault disposed of all the rights of his melodrams "After Dark" to Wm. A. Brady of Ban Francisco, manager of the Webster-Brady company, who had come from San Antonio, Texas, to attend the saie, The amount paid was $1.600, "After Dark" was originally produced at Niblo's Garden in 1868.

MARRIAGE NOT A FAILURE.

New View of This Great Question Which Shows How Ladies May Retain the Love of Their Husbands.

Ne weman who is unartractive in person, mind, or disposition can hope to interest or hold men. Bad com-plexion, dull eyes, a listless nature never did or can at-tract mankind. On the other hand how many women with clear skin, beneath which the blood can be seen throbbing with health bright eyes and life and animation in every movement, make the world a blessing to their husbands, brothers, lovers or friends. The secret their husbands, brothers, lovers of friends. The secret of clear skin, bright eyes and animation is good circula-tion of the blood. When the bleed is allow the person is stupid. Keep the blood meving. But how? There is only one way, and that is to help Nature by a gentle enly one way, and analy stimulant, but it is almost impossible for ladies to take the kind of exercise that will produce health and beauty. But the blood must be kept moving, and the discovery which has done more to add moving, and the discovery which has done more to add health and beauty than any other known cause is Duffy's Pure Mait Whisker. This great remedy stimulates healthily. It is not an intoxicant. Thousands of women who were once tired, depressed, and discouraged are now in perfect health and heauty entirely through its use. Many prominent temperance ladies have given it their hearty endorsement. and elergymen and priests in every prominent city use and recommend it. Great care should be shown in buying only the genuine, for no other bottled whiskey has the wonderful qualities which are possessed by Duffy's. When ladies are kept bright and attractive and husbands are considerate and kind, few marriages will be "failurea."
